

CANNON WILL HAVE TO BE FIRED

President and Vice-President in Conference Agree That He Must Resign.

TAFT WILL WRITE LETTER

Heads of the Nation Spent the Day at Beverly Going Over Situation.

BEVERLY, Massachusetts, August 18.—An important conference was held here today, in which the President and the Vice-President met to discuss the outlines of the program for the political campaign this fall. It is understood that the two heads of the Republican party agreed on the main issues to be included in the national plan of campaign, which are to be embodied in a letter to be sent out over the President's signature.

The national situation was canvassed thoroughly, and it was agreed that the demand for a reorganization of the party must be met, and that this plan will include the elimination of Speaker Cannon, who will be asked to retire for the sake of party harmony.

The letter to be prepared and sent out by President Taft is to sound the keynote of the campaign, and is expected to bring the warring factions of the party together again for a united front in November.

SENSATION IN BIG ILLINOIS BRIBERY TRIAL AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, August 17.—A sensation was sprung yesterday afternoon in the trial of Lee Neil Brown in connection with the alleged wholesale bribery committed for the purpose of securing the election of Lorimer to the United States senate, when the presiding judge declared there had been wholesale tampering with the jury, and dismissed the entire panel of seventy-five.

The judge announced that he would start an investigation to find out who has been guilty of trying to thwart justice in the trial.

JUDGE WORKS IS CHOSEN SENATOR

SAN FRANCISCO, August 17.—Returns from the primaries held yesterday throughout the State, under the operation of the new direct primary law, give a sweeping victory for the insurgent Republicans or what is known as the Lincoln-Roosevelt League.

Hiram Johnson was nominated for governor by a vote of fifty thousand over Curry, his chief opponent. The others on the list trailed far behind.

William Kent has defeated Congressman McKinlay in the second district. Kent was one of the staunch supporters of Francis J. Heney in the graft prosecutions.

In southern California Stephens has defeated McLachlan, and it is possible that Kirby will defeat Congressman Smith, although the returns indicate a very close vote.

Judge Works of the circuit court will probably receive the endorsement for United States senator, the ballot securing an advisory vote.

OAHU OUTPLAYS CAVALRY IN THIRD MATCH OF INTERISLAND POLO SERIES

AUTOMOBILES LINED UP AT YESTERDAY'S POLO MATCH.

Game Was Hard and Fast Although Scoring Was Done by Civilians.

SOCIETY WAS OUT EN MASSE

Interest in Games Increasing as Players and Ponies Grow Acquainted.

(From Thursday's Advertiser.)

Before a panoramic beauty show in automobile settings the Fifth Cavalry four were routed sixteen and three-quarters to two and a half by the office boys yesterday afternoon in the polo game at Moanalua field. The doctor and his staff of commercial dignitaries, however, only had one considerable obstacle in the way of their scoring goals, and this was the whirlwind Hanson. He dashed all around them, charged back and forth through them, hooked the ball out and got away time and again with it for a dash over the field, but he had no support, and the blue jays soon recovered it, losing no time in coming through with a goal.

The yellow jackets, the Cavalrymen, spread themselves out more than they did against the Kauai team, but the blue jays just brushed them aside and ran away with the ball.

Has Hard Luck.

The Cavalry had two strokes of hard luck. Once in the fifth period Sheridan got away with the ball and was well in the lead when his stick broke and he had to abandon the chase. In the seventh period Hanson circled the bunch like a hawk, swooped down into the midst of them, and flew off with the ball. He had outdistanced all opposition and was nearing the goal when the big bell jingled the end of the period and he could not finish the run.

The Oahu four showed up strong on their teamwork. They made several pretty passes from one to another as the whole bunch was in full charge up the field. When the ball did roll up alongside a yellow jacket, he couldn't knock it as far as across the street. The blue jays were more deft with the stick. They passed the ball from one to another with cross and side strokes, and when one got a clear field for a swoop he sent it skying like a golf ball, where one of his team mates could put it through the goal.

Hold Out to Finish.

The Oahu men played in equally good form and did not lag out toward the finish as in their match with the Kauaians. Frank Baldwin, who was an enthusiastic critic, said he was disappointed in the game.

"The Oahu team played better than they did against the Kauai four—that is, they kept up the pace, and the Cavalry did not play so well as they did with the Kauai team."

Asked how the Oahu team sized up compared with last year, he said: "They are better mounted and they play better."

H. P. Baldwin was the chief rooster in the paddock. "Who made that goal?" somebody shouted. "It makes no difference who made it, it's the teamwork that counts," responded H. P., and he rooted for touchdowns as much as for goals.

Harold Rice, who is on the Maui team, officiated as umpire, taking the field with two of his polo mounts. Both ponies were light grays and as sleek and trim as though they had been kept in a glass case.

Doctor Fitzgerald, the Kahului veterinarian, was out on the field. He said he was looking after the Maui team mounts, and he assured the reporter that the ponies were all in fine feather. There are eighteen polo ponies out at the Moanalua stables which arrived from Maui last Sunday. Sixteen of these will be used in the games. They are all old polo ponies, with the exception of five, having played in the inter-island tournament last year.

Six Goals in One Period.

The game yesterday was furious throughout. In one period, the third, there were six goals scored, and the Cavalry landed three of the half-dozen. This was the only period in which the yellow jackets scored. Lieutenant Hanson put two of them through and Captain Stewart got one. The Oahu team lost a whole point on two fouls and a quarter on a safety just before the finish, knocking the ball back of their own line to prevent the Cavalry from scoring. The Oahuans were charged up with their last foul just before the gong sounded the end of the eighth frame. The Cavalry were only penalized for one foul.

Shakes Fist at Opponent. There was some wrath exuded in the heat of the game. One blue jay shook his fist at a yellow jacket as the two tried to ride each other off the field. Both horses were about equal in weight and strength, and after bucking each other for a while the big bay, carrying a blue jay, slipped off, whirled around, and each rider faced the other with their chargers crouching back for a dash. They looked ready to draw sabers and go to it for a duel, but they soon forgot their animosity and rode off to get in the game. Some one said it was Walter Dillingham and Captain Forsyth who presented this tragic pose, but the riders were hard to distinguish way out in center field.

It was suggested that the players of each team wear different colored hats, so the scorers could tell from a distance who it was that scored each goal. Anyone's word was generally accepted, and sometimes the players could not remember afterward when several scores were made in one period.

More Open Play.

The players all kept more separated than in the previous matches. This showed up the team work better, giving the men a chance to work a combination of passes and the shifts of positions to gain an advantage as the ball was being juggled around were open to view, arousing more interest from the spectators as it enabled them to get on to the fine points of the game. Walter Dillingham and Sam Baldwin were the dashing riders of the Oahu team. Walter scored eight of the eighteen goals made by the blue jays. Sam Baldwin landed five. Harold Dillingham three and Doctor Baldwin two.

Walter was very accurate with his strokes. One goal he made from one side of the field that had to travel a bee line to squeeze through between the posts. Another goal he made with a back hand stroke. Sam Baldwin's gray, Bill Taft, has fully recovered from his lameness and was well able to rough it with the rest. Sam has bought Mutt for $400 from the Fifth Cavalry, but Lieutenant Hanson will ride him in all the games in which the Cavalry play this year. Mutt is the fastest horse in the games so far played on the field, but Hanson said yesterday that it was not so much his speed as that he was handy and well trained to the play.

The game was pretty hard on the horses yesterday. Mutt was panting all over when he finished one period. A bay mount that Lieutenant Hanson rode acted rather willful. He had too much head action and plunged about a good deal. Two of Doctor Baldwin's mounts gave him some trouble and the third one, a bay, he couldn't use through one period. One of his sorrel mares ran away two or three times going clean up to the top of the bank at the lower end of the field.

Blue Jays Score at Start.

The blue jays scored after one minute and fifty-two seconds of play. Sam Baldwin got the ball and carried it up in front of the goal, then Doctor Baldwin took it and whacked it through. At three fourteen of the first period Sam got it again and carried it through. At four forty-two Walter Dillingham made his fine cut from the side field and at five fifty-two, he scored again, making four goals for the blue jays to the yellow jackets nothing at the end of the first.

Captain Stewart made a long drive from the field just toward the finish but the ball barely missed one of the posts, going outside.

Sam Baldwin got the ball going on the line with the posts and swatted it through with a cross stroke at the one forty-nine tick of the second period. Walter Dillingham scored at two fifty-six and Sam landed another at six thirty-seven. He got away with the ball after a long scrimmage and made a beautiful hit right between the posts. This made the score seven to nothing for the office boys.

Cavalry Score.

In the third inning the Cavalry braced up for a spell and looked for a while as though they might get into the game. Hanson started right off with the ball. He carried it over half of the field with the whole bunch riding close on his heels. He could not get the direction and the ball went over the line wide of the goal.

The blues then got it and brought it back to center. After a scramble, Captain Forsyth hooked the ball out and dashed up the field. He passed it to Stewart who completed the run and handed it to Hanson who slammed it through before the blue jays had a chance to interfere. This deal was negotiated inside of one minute and twenty-two seconds of play.

Stewart ducked in and made off with it again and carried it almost the entire length of the field. He went through for a score before the rest were hardly under way, making the second goal in two minutes and eleven seconds of play. Then there was a series of passes in the center of the field and at three thirty-one Sam Baldwin got away with it and scored the eighth goal for his team.

Hanson charged right into the bunch as soon as the ball was in play again and went up the field like a flash, swinging on the ball and riding right along with it, scoring his second goal at four thirty-seven, just one minute and six seconds after the previous goal. At five fifty-nine, of the time of the third period Harold Dillingham cracked the ball through for one more. Hanson blocked his drive once, but he got another chance and landed the goal.

With less than a minute and a half left Walter Dillingham got control of the ball and stayed with it, scoring the sixth goal in the third period with seven minutes and eleven seconds of the time expired. The whole bunch stuck to him right through to the finish, but the Cavalry were not allowed to interfere with his movements.

Cavalry Penalized.

Twice at the start of the fourth period Hanson made away with the sphere and played all around the goal posts, but failed to score. The Oahuans persisted in blocking and finally Harold Dillingham got in line with his stroke. Captain Stewart bumped into him and was charged up with a foul, but Harold went on his way with the ball and landed a goal after two minutes and thirty-five seconds of the fourth period was up. At three thirty-eight, or one minute and three seconds later, Walter Dillingham drove the ball through from the field. Sam Baldwin then made a sensational long drive, but the ball shied off and passed outside.

A series of pretty passes finally gave Harold Dillingham the ball and he came through with a tally at five fifty-eight. With nothing more accomplished the fourth period ended with the score thirteen to two and a half.

The fifth frame was a hard struggle and nobody scored. The field was covered from end to end with the Cavalry doing some good defensive work at blocking the ball around their goal line.

Breaks Polo Stick.

Sheridan had an excellent chance to score at the start. He got away with the ball and was well in the lead when he broke the head off of his mallet and had to give up, while the blues came along and copped the sphere. Doctor Baldwin finally took it in tow. He carried it well up the field and then gave it one wallop but the ball went to one side. Walter Dillingham dug the ball out of the bunch twice and both times went off for a long ride, but each time he missed on the final stroke.

Then Sam Baldwin took a turn at it. He got it over on the society side of

PALMER WOODS FOR TREASURER OF BIG ISLAND

(Special Wireless to The Advertiser.) HILLO, August 17.—Former Senator Palmer P. Woods, of Kahala, has been definitely asked by the Democratic leaders if he will accept the nomination for county treasurer. His friends are confident that he can be elected if he should run.

Endorsing Pua.

The Democratic clubs throughout the island are endorsing Sam Pua, the Republican candidate for the shrievalty, to succeed himself. This has been done through Kona and Kauai and the way is spreading to Hanalei. This will add strength to the entire Republican ticket because of Pua's personal influence with the Hawaiian voters.

Want Thorough Investigation.

Some of the county supervisors and heads of departments have met Carl Smith, who is investigating the Honolulu road contract for the Hilo board of trade, and have expressed their willingness to help him in any manner possible, as they wish for a thorough investigation and an impartial report upon the alleged graft charges. Senator Brown, the contractor, was also present at the conference and concurred in the wish for a thorough investigation.

MAUI NOTES.

WAILUKU, August 16.—Wallace J. Lillis, better known as "Bob" Lillis, has been appointed examiner of chauffeurs for Maui county. Lillis is an old Honolulu boy. He has been here fifteen months and is well liked.

Tom Skinner in his Chalmers-Detroit car, came from Lahaina to Wailuku the other night in fifty-eight minutes, the amateur driver's record for the run. The best time between the two points is fifty minutes, made by Bob Lillis.

There is considerable agitation among the traveling fraternity in favor of having signals displayed from the shore at McGregor's and other local landings, showing the captains of steamers the condition of landing and if such is impossible. Last week when the Mauna Kea's boats had such a narrow escape in the tidal wave surf Captain Freeman had no way of knowing that an attempt to land would be fraught with danger, and accordingly let the steamer's boats go shoreward.

SOMETHING RELIABLE.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

The field, way up close to the Cavalry goal. He hit it a gentle tap and trotted along with it until the ball was directly in front of the goal. He tried to put it through with a cross stroke in front of him, but missed the ball. The other blues came along for a try in turn. Doctor Baldwin took a whack at it and Sheridan blocked, and the period ended with the Cavalry standing the blue jays off at their goal.

Doctor Baldwin Scores.

The sixth period started at the Cavalry end of the field, and Doctor Baldwin knocked a goal after thirty-four seconds of play. The whole bunch flew down to the other end of the field, and while the others were dallying to get a whack at the sphere Walter Dillingham swatted the ball through for a goal with a backhand stroke.

Only two minutes and eight seconds of the sixth were up, and after a series of passes Walter scored again. The timekeeper's watch had measured off three-thirty-six, and the score then stood sixteen to two and a half in favor of the blues.

The Cavalry made a strenuous effort to score after this, but were not able to get the ball through. Forsyth got the ball and started down the field. He saw Walter Dillingham charging up to ride him off, and he left the ball to Hanson, who was following close behind, and confined his attentions to the big blue jay. While Forsyth and Dillingham were bucking each other around Hanson carried the ball clean up to the blues' goal, but the Oahuans were there and prevented it from slipping through. The ball was then worked back to center field, and finally Stewart took it out for a long drive, but the missile preferred to take the outside. Walter Dillingham was charged up with a foul, and this made the score fifteen and a half to two and a half.

It took five minutes and thirty-six seconds to land a goal in the seventh, and this was done by a combination of passes, with both teams forming one group as they raced at full speed down the far side of the field. They cut a crescent, circling from the center way over to the line of automobiles and thence rounding in to the lower end goal. The ball was hit from one to another of the Oahu four before a cavalryman had a chance to get next, and finally Sam Baldwin made off with it in the lead, scoring the seventeenth tally for the Oahu team.

Hanson Loses Out.

Hanson then cut loose and raced all around and through the bunch. Finally he nailed the ball and started up the field, but before he could reach the goal line the seven minutes and a half were up and he lost a good chance to score.

After two minutes and twenty-five seconds of play in the eighth, Walter Dillingham made the last goal by a difficult shot from one side of the field. After that the Cavalry kept the ball dangerously near the Oahuans' goal posts, and one of the blues knocked it back of their own line to prevent the yellow jackets from scoring. This penalized them a quarter of a point, and the Oahu team was penalized again for a foul, which brought their score down to sixteen and three-quarters out of eighteen goals to two and a half out of three goals for the Cavalry.

THE COLONEL MIGHT NOT FIGHT

New York State Situation Chaotic—Roosevelt's Friends Will Boost Him.

TEDDY MAY KEEP QUIET

Issue Appealed From State Central Committee to Primaries and to Convention.

NEW YORK, August 18.—The result of the defeat of Colonel Roosevelt for temporary chairman of the Republican State convention is a situation nothing less than chaotic.

A fight is certain, the determination of the friends of Roosevelt being to make him temporary chairman, though the Colonel now says that he might not enter into the battle for the honor.

The issue is to be taken up on appeal from the State Central Committee's decision and will be fought in the primaries and in the convention. Roosevelt's supporters are arming for the fray and the contest will be bitter.

The announcement of appeal from the central committee was first believed to indicate that Roosevelt himself would actively engage in the fight as a leading representative of the progressive element, as against those now in control; but, while not declaring that he will keep out of the mixup, the Colonel states that he might not engage therein. His friends, however, are ready to fight for him.
